Your system is capable of rendering medium quality VR but does not meet the recommended spec. Some VR titles have been tuned to display only at recommended visual quality and may not run on this system. Others that use Adaptive Quality may display with reduced visual quality to support smooth framerates. Follow the recommended and minimum specs for each VR title. We recommend upgrading your Graphics Card.

You can also try updating your Graphics Card drivers, closing performance-heavy applications, and running this test again.

Please note that while your system's rendering power isn't limited by your CPU, this test doesn't account for the varying CPU cost of positional tracking and processing-intensive applications. Follow the recommended specs for each VR headset and piece of software.

Also note, your system's USB capabilities have not been evaluated. Follow the recommended specs for each VR headset.
